OUR TOWN

Here is the old column again. After an absence of several months "Our Town" gets back in Harness again to keep tab on the events of the day. This year is potential and the opportunity to serve the state in this column will not be infrequent. Readers of this paper and followers of its policy will find their cause represented in this column. The remainder of this newspaper is open to all but this column belongs to "Our Town" to express what he thinks.

Dan Moody, master embezzler and Ku Klux by proxy, has run true to form in the convention at Beaumont. He has been consistent—a consistent double crossing, provincial politician. Thomas B. Love of Dallas is a better man than Moody becauce he is honest and sincere. Moody is neither honest or sincere in his dealings with the Democrats in the convention at Beaumont nor is he fair and square with the people of Texas. All the talk about Boss Love being run over and trod upon by the governor, was horse play pure and simple. Thomas B. Love has captured the convention because Moody has yielded to his program of instruction against Governor Smith. The delegation from Texas to the National Convention by reason of the duplicity of the governor in refusing to permit the democrats of the various congressional districts to name their representatives in compliance with local self government, will go to the Houston convention instructed against Smith.

Moody should have told the people of Texas that he was in favor of naming delegates to the Houston convention commited against Governor Smith. He should have been as honest and frank with the people as he was late Wednesday when he interrupted a roll call in the convention to make a speech because he saw the delegates expressing their prefernce. Tom Love promptly joined with Moody and the Smith delegates in the convention numbering 252 showed their real strength, always in a minority but good enough for Moody to use in defeating the fanatics led by Love in the early stages.

Democrats in Texas will never follow again the leadership of an uninstructed propaganda. Neff tried it four years ago and was not permitted to speak at the convention. Moody did it this time and was permitted to speak because he spoke the language of others. Moody talks about the Klan issue. He wants their votes and he will get them because he has led the state against Al Smith.

There can be no objection to anybody opposing Al Smith or anyone else. Texas has a right to instruct against Smith or anyone else. But the politicians have no right to disregard the practice of the party or the rights of the people to send their own delegates from their own political subdivisions. And, because Moody has defeated this prinmiple he is entitled to the contempt of honest Democrats everywhere and he has ours.

Here's the whole story: Moody after being told to his face of his hypocracy by such men as John Boyle, Senator A. J. Wirtz, Steve Pinckney of Houston, his campaign manager for governor two years ago, and Paul Page of Bastrop, said: "I was between the horns of a delimna. Either one I took meant I was gored and I took the one my conscience dictated to me to be the correct position. I feel humiliated over the situation, but I could not help it." Moody spurned his friends and prefers the support of the Love crowd and the issue is squarely joined in Texas and the fight is on.

One thing the Democrats have done in Texas that there can be no mistake about. They have put and end to bigotry and to intolerance. Moody seems to have led out fairly well on this cardinal American principle we call "Religious Liberty." Free speech, free press, free conscience and freedom of religion must ever obtain in a free country and congress shall make no law respecting the establishment of religion says the good old constitution after it has been subjected to 19 changes. Good Americans everywhere will subscribe to this doctrine, not hypocritally but honestly. To guard these rights is now the duty of every man.

Governor Smith says: "I recognize no authority or institutions in my church to interfere with the Constitution of the United States of America or the enforcement of any law, and I stand for absolute separation of church and state."

Funny how the hypocrites do. W. L. Dean, author of the Texas prohibition law, named chairman of the Democratic convention at Beaumont, not overlooking a chance to excoriate

WELL KNOWN CITIZEN ASKS ELECTION AT PRIMARY ON JULY 28

R. R. Tyson, well known citizen of Milam county and resident of Cameron, is a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Milam county, subject to action of the Democratic primary on July 28, 1928. In making this announcement Mr. Tyson issued the following statement to the people of the county:

After mature deliberation and thought of the matter and taking into consideration all the facts, those that militate for and against, I have decided to announce my candidacy for the office of Sheriff of Milam County subject to the Democratic Primary July 28, 1928. It is customary to state in an announcement of this character, particularly for the nomination to a law enforcement office, something with reference to the kind and quality of service which is proposed to be rendered the people in the event of election, hence it may not be amiss to give briefly my intentions in this regard. They are as follows:

To adhere strictly to and apply vigorously the fine democratic principal, "Equal rights to all and special privileges to none," an honest and sincere effort to enforce the law strictly and without partiality. and that courteous and considerate treatment of every matter pertinent to the position which comes to the office of Sheriff.

I am sure that the greater portion of our people will not fail to understand my meaning when I say that I have been for the greater portion of my life as a farmer, tolerably successful, but, without any desire to complain or to appear to be asking for sympathy, during the past five or six years.

I have been the unfortunate victim as have most of the farmers of Milam County, of price decline, drouths, overflows and other forces which have made it necessary to seek my fortunes in some other direction. Therefore, I will frankly state that I desire the office, not only as a means through which I might render public service, but as a means of livelyhood for my family.

With a lifetime of citizenship in Milam County, with an acquaintance with its people, its problems, and a reasonable comprehension of the duties and requirements of the office to which I am aspiring, and the disposition and desire to learn all about it should I be so fortunate as to attain it. I do not, in any measure, arrogate to myself any conceit or egotism when I say that I believe myself capable, qualified and worthy.

I shall devote my time between now and primary day to the pleasant task of seeing the people and asking for their support.

CHRISTIAN REVIVAL OPENS TUESDAY 29TH

EVANGELIST L. O. BYERLY ENGAGED AS LEADER FOR SERVICE HERE

The revival meeting planned and announced some time ago by the Christian church will begin Tuesday evening May 29 services beginning promptly at eight o'clock. All that can be done to make these services attractive and helpful and great good is hoped will result from them.

The evangelist mentioned, L. O. Byerly, is at present pastor of the Rockdale Christian church. There his efforts have doubled the attendance in church and Sunday school in four months. Additions have come at almost each one of his services and the people of Rockdale recommend him highly as a preacher and worker. Evangelist Byerly has traveled with several of America's greatest evangelist and comes with an enviable record to give us the best of both years of experience and education.

The first sermon as announced by Evangelist Byerly will be "Why I Believe the Bible to be Divine and God's Book." In this day of agnosticism and infidelity we are sure that Christian people as well as others will be glad to hear and have preached in town this sermon that will build again as of old our faith around the Word of God as an only book of authority on mattersof religion. Should the Bible be in the public schools? Should the Bible be in the home? Should a business man follow its guidance in business? These and many more will be discussed at this first service, Tuesday May 29th. Come and bring a friend.

C. W. LAWRENCE

Mr. Lawrence, veteran in progress and one of the early advocates of electricity in the days when its utility was little known in Cameron, tells an interesting story of the progress of electricity in the accompanying article.

ELECTRICITY HAS BEEN BIG FACTOR IN DEVELOPMENT OF CAMERON; PIONEER IN INDUSTRY TELLS INTERESTING STORY

So little was known about electric service in Cameron at one time that operators of the first light plant here offered to wire homes free of charge as an inducement to get customers.

This was back in 1898 when Willis and Charles Goldwaite gave Cameron its first electric lights and in the days when saloons were as numerous here as filling stations are today. The history of electricity in Cameron includes some interesting and important events in the development of Cameron and many prominent names are listed in the record of achievements of electric service here.

Recently C. W. Lawrence, head of the Cameron Ice and Cold Storage plant and one of the pioneers of the electric industry in this town, recalled the founding of the little electric generating station which was destined to help Cameron on its prosperous era of development. Mr. Lawrence was secretary of the electric company which succeeded the Goldwaite plant here and later was a partner with T. S. Henderson as full owners of the establishment.

"It is hard to realize what progress has been made in the electric industry," Mr. Lawrence said. "Little did we realize, when the first plant started operation, that we eventually would get sufficient power pulsing through these myriad copper strands to continuously run entire cities.

"When electricity first came to Cameron there was only enough power generated to supply current for lighting the carbon filaments in the old style carbon lamps and service was given only from darkness to about eleven p. m. And, if I remember correctly, we had to induce residents here to take the service by offering to wire their houses free. Today no one would think of building a house or business establishment without providing for electric wiring. For now, with the service we get, we not only light our homes but cook our meals, do our house-cleaning and re-

Texas and Texans'

By Will H. Mayes

Texas Mineral Production

Texas ranks fourth among the States in mineral production according to the latest report of the United States Department of Commerce. Pennsylvania with its tremendous output of coal and smaller output of cement, clay products and natural gas, leads all the States with a total of $1,055,766,000. Oklahoma ranks next, with its big petroleum and coal production, with California a close third. These states produce minerals to the amount of $569,519,000 and $523,535,000 respectively. Petroleum, sulphur and natural gas are leading factors in swelling Texas' mineral resources to $420,587,000.

When Texas' potash and lignite are developed as they should be, and they doubtless will be in the next few years this State will exceed Oklahoma and California in mineral production and rank next to Pennsylvania.

Texas Port Development

There is nothing more significant of the fast development of Texas and the Southwest than the rapid improvement of Texas gulf ports by the United States Government. Port Arthur, Galveston, Houston, Port Aransas and Point Isabel are all receiving large appropriations from the Government to carry on the work of necessary harbor improvements, and much work is being done and planned for intermediate gulf harbors. This means that increased shipping is foreseen to justify the outlay and portends an area of vast prosperity for all Texas, radiating, not from one, but from numerous ports along the great stretch of Mexican Gulf coast line.

Any doubt that may exist as to the early development of Point Isabel has been removed by the recommendation for that port and the late announcement from the development company there that a $500,000 modern hotel will be started right away to care for the large business that is sure to follow.

Mercedes Beautification

The Professional and Business Women's Club of Mercedes, which has taken as its major work the beautification of the city, recently attracted much favorable attention to itself and the city by getting out a 40 page edition of the Mercedes Tribune almost wholly devoted to the beautification work already accomplished and in prospect. Perhaps no other organization in the State has accomplished so much in the way of civic improvement or has gone so whole-heartedly into the task of arousing in every citizen a spirit of home and city pride.

Fredricksburg Fair

Fredricksburg has attained more than a local reputation for its county fair. This has been due largely to the fact that it takes "time by the forelock" in its preparations. Other places may still be doing distant dreams about their next fairs, but Fredricksburg is already building a spacious exhibit building for commercial exhibits ,trade displays, agricultural exhibits and a woman's department. The fairs that wait until late summer to start their plans should remember that too often "delays have dangerous ends."

Humor and Grammar

Deskins Wells, who edits that splendid paper, the Wellington Leader, says that he can't understand why so many so-called humorists seem to think it necessary to use bad English and misspell words to make their writings funny, nor can he understand why the papers impose such writings on the public in the name of humor. The papers use such copy in the belief that readers like it, and 'humorists" write it to cover their ignorance. There is nothing funny about it, but it enables writers who can't construct a correct English sentence to sell their stuff. The best writers make enough mistakes; deliberately to palm off poor English and misspelling for humor is an imposition on readers and the press should quit tolerating it.

Peanut Prices Better

The Weatherford Democrat would encourage farmers to grow more peanuts and to use better methods in preparing the land and cultivating the crop. Prices are gradually increasing and the demand is good. Peanuts are largely drouth-resisting, they are not subject to insect pests, they are soil builders, they are as sure as any crop to make good yields. Peanut growing may not be a quick way to wealth, but no section that has ever grown peanuts as assiduously as cotton is grown has ever been improverished thereby.

Weimar's Lily Garden

A few years ago Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Weimar, started with one little lily bulb in their garden, which now contains several thousand beautiful blossoms to repay their care and attention and to attract several hundreds of visitors to admire the beautiful sight. Due to careful cultivation the stalks are over four feet high and produce from 12 to 24 blossoms each.

Chicago to Texas

Hans Hanson, a young truck and citrus farmer near Falfurrias, think there is little excuse for holding a grocery clerk job in crowded and cold Chicago when a person can live on his own farm in sunny Texas and raise Texas six years ago and bought ten acres near Falfurrias. He first tried vegetables and fruits. He came to dairying but couldn't milk. He then tried cotton but couldn't make any progress picking cotton. He next began specialiizng in tomatoes, watermelons, and other truck crops and now has the ten acres planted to oranges, grapefruit and other fruits and berries and rents a 25 acre tract on which he continues to grow veggtables. He has a wife and four small children who have been cared for in comfort from the little place. This just shows what can be done almost anywhere in Texas if one only has the pluck to try. Hans has no desire to return to Chicago and who would?

Elected Forty Times

For forty consecutive times Henry Miller of Weatherford, has been elected Grand Keeper of Records and Seal of the Grand Lodge of Knights of Pythias of Texas. While his is a secretarial position, he is more largely than any other person in charge of the business of the Pythians. No greater tribute could be paid a man than to be elected to such a responsible position for so long a time, but every one who knowns this venerable Knight agrees that he fully deserves the great confidence so long placed in him.

CRACKLINGS

The Star says, "in a certain town where in early days there was a sign in the bar room: 'Don't shoot the piano player,' there is now a cafe in this place and the sign reads, 'Shoot at the saxaphone player, $5.00 meal ticket if you hit him.'

Did you ever notice how arguments flourish and are prolonged when facts are scarce.

Men, even the wisest of them, go at life somewhat blindly. All admit they can't quite solve the ridde. And after all, isn't it better as it is.

How do you feel whe nyour wife looks at you, just after supper and all out of the sky says, "I want to talk to you about something."

Older folks josh about 'puppy love.' It's amusing to an old married man to observe to assurance and gayety of a youg man about to be married. But say folks, wouldn't it be heaven if all could live on in unity, under that same feeling we had when 'puppy love' ruled our hearts and actions.'"

Strange but true, for some unknown kink in our make-up, but did you ever notice how pleased a fat man or fat woman looks when you tell them 'Why you're so much thinner."

Reflecting, seriously, I believe you will agree that under most circumstances, nothing is so tortuous as a vivid imigination.

The prevailing query in this "dollar age" is "what does he get?"

Some of these statistic fellows are dippy. I note where a Kansas professor shows where a fellow blindfolded, travels in circles. Gosh. So do jack rabbits, mules and lots of folks not blindfolded.

I'm worried about Harry Lauder, for I learn he has now decided to follow the styles and shorten his skirts. I'm afraid if Harry throws away his jimmy pipe and gets a long cirarette holder, he'll have to get a body guard to go with him when he goes out on the street.

A fellow popped into the office last week who said he was a tourist printer and in conversation, told me he only had $2.30 to his name. In his next breath he asked me if I knew where he could buy a newspaper.

Is it a sign of old age when a man begins to drop gravy and food on his necktie? I don't think so, strikes me more of a sign he feels like a three year old.

I can't help think there's been some mistake, for I note 27 million pounds of pretzels were sold in U. S. last year. This is more than before the old days when there was a logical and practical means of getting pretzels sold and washed down, but now, well I can't figure it all out, can you?

I have heard and seen the degrees of a certain lodge to which I belong for years. Recently I was profundly struck with the wonderful depth, the beauty and sentiment of a certain prayer in the work. It was hard to believe. I had heard this prayer so many times and yet had never before realized its beauty, its lofty sentiments, its great ideal.

It is often this way about reading the Bible. We read and find we have just read. While at some other time, we will go over this same chapter or passage again and see in it a golden nugget, full of peace, hope and comfort, that will impress our lives.

Moods have great influence on men and it is only to this I can look to for an explanation of the why.

There are two kinds of radicals. One bunch hammer anything and everything that comes up. They take the other side, no matter what it is—they're just radicals. They oppose for the sake of opposition.

There's another kind that do the same, but whenever they oppose, they always have a constructive idea or plan to propose as a substitute. They are usually honest, high minded, progressive, sometimes not far-sighted, sometimes wiser than the mass.

At any rate, this last type are a real asset to any community for they invoke thought.

The radical who just rattles and knocks is one of those seemingly necessary evils communities must tolerate—like fleas on dogs—just pests.

When a man has labored to establish a business or get on easy street, he is so set and tired or old, he does not enjoy spending it. But thank goodness, there are the wives and daughters left.

INDIGESTION

And Other Common Troubles Helped by Black-Draught.

"I think we owe the remarkable healthy record of our family to the use of Black-Draught," says Mrs. J. H. Luther, 514 W. Belknap St., Ft. Worth, Tex. "I was suffering from an attack of indigestion. Somebody recommended Black-Draught to me, and I got some and tried it. I felt so much better, after I had taken it, that I used it the next time I was sick, and then the next. I soon found it to be a dependable medicine to use for my family. "Whenever the children had colds, or an upset stomach, I treated them with Black-Draught."

Thorndale To Hold Annual Community Fair This Year

The directors of the Thorndale Commercial Club in session last Thursday evening voted unanimously in favor of holding another community fair in Thorndale the latter part of November. Definite plans were not worked out, but these will be executed within ample time to assure the success of the event.

So successful and beneficial was the first one held last year that it was decided shortly after the close of the Fair that they would be staged annually. The occasion this year will no doubt attract additional exhibits, and many that were not represented last year have already signified their intention of having displays this year, also those participating last year intend increasing the individual exhibits.

Considerable comment was heard on our last community fair, and especially the variety of poultry that was attracted by the event and exhibited here for two days. Other displays included home canning, hand and needle work of various kinds, relics, vegetables, corn and other home raised products.

Due to the interest manifested in the last fair, the one to be held this year should be bigger and better, with twice the exhibits. Plans will take form within a few weeks to work out details, announcements of which will be carried in the Champion.—Thorndale Champion.

Announcement Party Given Miss King

Mrs. Wm. Fanning and Mrs. H. N. Tate were joint hostesses to a group of young ladies last Thursday afternoon at the home of the former from 5:30 to 7:30 with a 42 party announcing the engagement of Miss Verna King to Mr. Lee R. Tag.

The rooms of the home were tastefully decorated in roses and sweet peas in shades of pink. The chosen color scheme of pink and green was also featured in table accessories. Mrs. Tate presided at the punch bowl, which was placed in a mound of pink verbena and fern.

After many games of 42 covers of pink in heart design were placed on the four tables. On the center of each table was placed a crystal basket of varicolored sweet peas.

Pink and white brick cream and angel squares embossed in pink were served. On each plate was a scroll tied with pink ribbon on which were written fortunes to be read during the afternoon. Guests were given a corsage of sweet peas. Each guest was given a chance to draw a number, and Miss Margaret McCown drew the lucky number 5 and was presented with a large crystal basket of sweet peas and sweetheart rosebuds. On the handle was a large bow of maline. Hidden in the blossom was a pink heart shaped booklet on the cover of which was written, "A message of Love," and the message was "Verna to Lee June 5, eight a. m. at the Hutcherson home. Little Misses Mira Lee and Alice Fanning daughters of the home and Bessie King, sister of the honoree assisted in hostess duties.

Those present were Misses Margaret McCown, Inez Evans, Edna Radtke, Cil Stedman, Goldie and Hilda Burke, Helen Blaylock, Bethel Middeton Corneia Gunn, Beatrice Reynolds, Jennie Shirley, Mable Wade, Bess Dunham, Mrs. Johnnie Mode Baker and the honoree.

Co. Agent Banzhaf Urges the Culling of All Roosters

U. S. Department of Agriculture Farmers' Bulletin No. 1040 says that fertile eggs spoil quickly in summer weather, and that fertile eggs cost the farmer $15,000,000 a year. One-third of this loss is preventable, because it is due to the partial hatching of fertile eggs which have been allowed to become warm enough to begin to incubate.

The rooster makes the egg fertile.

The fertile egg makes the blood ring.

You can save the $15,000,000 now lost from blood rings by keeping the male birds from your flock after the hatching season is over. The rooster does not help the hens to lay. He merely fertilizes the germ of the egg. The fertile germ in hot weather quickly becomes a blood ring, which spoils the egg for food and market. Summer heat has the same effect on fertile eggs as the hen or incubator.

Infertile Eggs Will Not Become Blood Rings

After the hatching season, cook or can, sell, or pen your roosters. Your hens not running with a male bird will produce infertile eggs—quality eggs that keep best and market best.

Rules For Handling Eggs on Farm

Heat is the great enemy of eggs, both fertile and infertile.

Farmers are urged to follow these simple rules, which cost nothing but time and thought and will add dollars to the poultry yard returns:

1. Keep the nests clean; provide one nest for every four hens.
2. Gather the eggs twice daily.
3. Keep the eggs in a cool, dry room or cellar.
4. Market the eggs at least twice a week.
5. Sell, kill or confine all male birds as soon as the hatching season is over.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

Dependability, Satisfaction and Honest Value

WHAT WE THINK

Many Democrats have gotten over their first flustration over Al Smith. They are coming back into the fold. Al Smith is better, they say, than Republicanism. Maybe theyare right, only you can prove nothing by me.

We will vote any kind of a ticket before we will vote for Hoover.

The farmers feel that way, but how they will vote is another question.

When we were young and of a tender age, about the only excitement that ever occurred in the neighborhood was a revival meeting led by old time evangelists. We well remember how they used to scare us until our hair would stand straight up on end, and we were afraid to go home in the dark. Cold shivers would run down our spine and we were advised to punish ourselves to escape the enternal fires of the hereafter. All thru the day our faces were long and solemn and we dreaded to think of the day when we were to meet our Maker. Then another seance at night and another dreadful day until the people in the community were exhausted mentally and physically. Everybody went and all the back-sliders were redeemed. A lot of new recruits were scared into the Kingdom. We guess it did good. There was nothing else to do. Everybody believed the preacher knew what he was talking about.

Nowadays if you do not want to be scared stiff, you can go to a movie, or listen to the radio. The world sure moves.

It is a wonder to us that other countries do not send missionaries to Chicago. Zulus for instance, they use knives and do not disfigure the landscape, when they start out to disfigure their enemies.

The English are snapping loose from rubber.

The Hindus now claim to have converted one American. We look for more, provided they can become Rajahines.

Balmy spring is arriving. The song of the meadow lark awakens one in the early morn and the gentle breezes give one spring fever, the catfish bite and the bull frogs croak. Amen.

Farmers can't even agree on when we need rain, let alone politics.

The side show will be sponsored by the Republicans this year.

The poet said that spring time is the time that a young man's mind fondly turns to thoughts of love. So it is with my neighbors thoughts they have turned to gardens. I am hoping to have plenty of garden sass.

I always get along well if my neighbors have good luck, hence the reason I am strong for my neighbors, their good luck helps me.

Being of a natural lazy turn, I am saved a lot of work. If you are willing, you are sure to be loaded down with work suggested by others.

The favorite sport of the average citizen is to tell the other fellow how to do it. We enjoy it ourselves and always have an open mind for suggestions. They generally expose the other fellow's ignorance and do no harm, all of which is in a day's work and helps to make life more interesting.

The fish worms are unusually fat and healthy this year, which should help the fishermen. The plow on this farm turns out some as large as small snakes. One was so large that it scared an old Brahma hen back to the hen house the other day.

Not everyone can grow such large fishworms, but we have'em and that is what some people would call luck.

We are just lucky in some things like that.

Anjennette is not so lucky. She almost wrecked herself a few days ago, fallin gover a misplaced box and it laid up with a badly sprained right hand.

Woodpeckers would do fine in the Legislature.

Record Production of Chevrolet Cars For 1928 Assured

Detroit, MHich., May 15.—Assurance that production of the Chevrolet Motor Company this year would top by a wide margin the million units built a year ago was felt here today with the announcement by W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager, that April was the third consecutive month this year to set a new all-time monthly production record for the manufacture of gear shift cars.

Chevrolet volume for the month just ended, Mr. Knudsen announced was 135,832 cars and trucks—an increase of more than 20,000 over the 11,939 units built in the same period a year ago and more than twice the output in April 1925. Of the April volume this year, more than 100,000 units were required for the domestic market, Mr. Knudsen said.

Not only did April set a new record for the month, but it topped by 2,000 units the output for March 1928 which was the previous high month. March also was 17,000 units in excess of February 1928, which in turn had exceeded all previous performances in the history of the company.

Combining the output of these three months with the 32,000 Bigger and Better Chevrolets built for isplay purposes in eDcember and the 91,000 turned out in January the total output of the new 1928 models up to May 1 was in excess of half the entire output in 1927. With eight months remaining in the year, optimism everywhere abounded in the Chevrolet organization that the year's output would shoot well beyond the million car mark.

The record volume achieved to date and the bright outlook for the future, show the measure of confidence placed in the company by the millions of people now driving Chevrolets, Mr. Knudse npointed out. He asserted that this good will factor is Chevrolet's greatest asset and puts the company under obligation to maintain the standards of quality which the public has so overwhelmingly accepted, thus making possible the new production marks now being set.

In addition to the high figures already hung up so far this year, still higher records are possible Mr. Knudsen said. He pointed out that the fifteen great Chevrolet factories are operating on a schedule for the present month that may carry them beyond the high volume attained in April. This would be possible, Mr. Knudsen explained, because the capacity of the other Chevrolet plants was increased in April by a new assembly plant opened at Atlanta, Ga., with a peak capacity of 100,000 cars a year.

We Remember

For a day the nation becomes remembrancer. Somewhere in this vast and diversely-born people there is the binding loyalty of a great common service. If for the many the day has become merely a release from labor, an occasion for self-amusement, it remains for millions of homes a tender retrospect, sanctified by service and crowned by the immortal fulfilment of complete sacrifice.

Turning to gaze down the years of this nation's story, the people see how vast that army is that gave itself. It discovers the dim figures of those who fought the fight in the Civil war, and the even dimmer forms of those who died to give birth to a new liberty. It recognizes with instant vision the wounds left by the World War and numbers on its farms, in its homes and in its shops the great roster of those who have gone to join the bivouac of the dead.

And yet another army—undistinguished, unremarked, perhaps forgotten except in that intimate family circle where memory never dies—the army of those who wore no uniform, carried no weapon, but in civil employment as surely and as bravely surrendered their lives to the public service and added their unnoticed greatness to the sum of national character.

The flags and the flowers will show the story. But the real significance dwells in the life of this people, whose days are richer and happier for the sturdy, unselfish devotion which keeps not merely the flag flying but sustains vital and quick that for which the flag is the symbol.

For these are the ones who builded the nation for our inheritance; the soldiers and sailors, the marines and volunteers, the clerks and the workers of post office and government department, all those of loyal heart and devoted service, of all ranks and origins, of all races and ages, of all degrees of fame and obscurity—a misty, gallant, self-forgetful army, who have left in our hearts the honor they guarded and increased.

The road lies open this day; the fairways are green, the rivers sparkling; even so, remembrance must be our companion and, perhaps, our impulse to renewed patriotism of the kind that adds to the nobility of our heritage.

SELF SERVICE

Many good folk are lamenting lives to unselfish service and the passing of the era when men and women consecrated their prepared themselves to become ministers, missionaries, teachers, or country doctors that they might administer to the spiritual, mental and physical needs of humanity without thought of large worldly gain. They are not in error when they charge that modern men and women are choosing vocations today in which they can do the greatest service to themselves.

People today are coming to the belief that the best way they can help others is to produce much that their profit shall be large and that they shall never become dependent upon society. The old idea of service was direct. The new service in indirect. Twenty years ago it was still thought that only ministers, doctors and teachers served humanity. Today every workman who carries his whole day's wage home is known to have earned that wage in service to society.

Elbert Hubbard's version of the Golden Rule was, "Do unto others as though you were the others," but an even more up-to-date version is "Do yourself much good and no bad to others." Getting something for yourself is reprehensible only when it is gotten at the expense of another.

RENDEZVOUS

The home has ceased to be a mere port of last resort and becomes a cherished rendezvous. And the radio is responsible. If one may eat dinner at home and at the same time hear the melodious strains of a symphony orchstra, if one may roll up the parlor rug and dance to the jazz janglings of a metropolitan dance orchestra, if one may sit in smoking jacket and slippers and not miss the evening church home.

The home is indebted to those new gold-dust twins Neutrodyne and Hetrodyne for bringing back the wandering flock. The player-piano, the phonograph, the library, the open door all tried their skill at vamping with little success. Where they failed th radio succeeded. It isn't guaranteed against fading but the wireless wave is overworking the hall hat rack.

When McCormack and Bori sang for the radio, theatrical producers predicted the early decline of drama. The radio is in competition with late evening movies. As long as the radio programs offer talent of a high order the radio-owning public will stay home to hear and go out only to see.

Governor Smith of New York, although accepting the convention gavel as a harmonizer said: "I do not believe Governor Smith ever had a farm if he did it was a small one." Was Woodrow Wilson a farmer or a dry Democrat? Is Hoover wet or dry? Does he know that America lives very close to the plow handles?

Noting the presence of Bob Henry at the Smith caucus and banquet Monday night in Beaumont, a small gray haired man whose name is not given rose from his seat: "Is this the same Bob Henry who in 1924 said that every Jew and every Catholic should be run out of America?" He waited for an answer and none came. He withdrew from the meeting.

A positive and colorful figure in the picture of Texas politics for more than a decade whose political funeral has been preached often by rival leaders but never by the people, James E. Ferguson went to the Beaumont convention a delegate from 27 counties and with 200 proxies in his pocket.

Baptist leaders tell their constituents to bolt if Al Smith is the nominee of the Democratic party for president. This happened at the recent convention. Their construction of the principle of "Separation of church and state, and religious liberty" is expressed in the sending of delegations to both national parties to prescribe a candidate to their liking and to proscribe another. In the storm of intolerance that swept the meeting the name of the New York governor was mentioned. Wonder how these leaders would feel if a delegation of Catholic priests were named to confer with leaders of the parties with the view of keeping a Baptist out of the White House?

Old Cincinnatus left his plow sticking in the soil of the Caesars and went to the defense of Rome, defeated the enemy, saved the army and nation and returned to his farm in 16 days. Paul Revere the son of a goldsmith from Guernsey untied his pony from a picket fence in old Charlestown on that dark night of April 18, 1775 when the lantern flashed through the panes of the old tower and rode across the New England landscape and the British were defeated at Lexington and Concord. This dramatic example of reaction to encroachment on cherished freedom serves us well. Americans have met and settled right ever national crisis and this people will be saved from fanaticism now, under courageous leadership and broad principles. Paul Revere helped throw that tea in the harbor at Boston and was a printer too! Was he at the Beaumont Convention.

Men whose blood has stained every battlefield of the Republic from Concord to Flanders Field, all the way, have been of the Catholic faith, Jew and Protestant alike, all patriots. On May 30th Memorial Day when memory leads we gather to honor them. From their falling hands we caught the torch. It is ours to bear it nigh. We knew no difference then, we should know none now.

MOVIES PRESERVE THE MAY FETE IN CAMERON

COLORFUL PROGRAM WITNESSED BY HUNDREDS IN ANNUAL CELEBRATION

In as colorful a celebration as ever marked May Day observance here the children of the public schools entertained the people of Cameron Friday evening May 18 at the Lawless Green field with the annual May Pole.

Motion pictures were taken of the event so appealing was its program. Hundreds of children in bright costumes and drab attire according to the representation, took part while parents mingled in the crowds and cheered the kiddies in their hour of pleasure.

Mercury read the following prologue at the approach of the Queen Miss Harriett Flinn as Juno. Paul Watson was the King representing Jupiter. Little Miss Caroline Flinn of Bishop was flower girl to the queen:

Hark, Hark, Hark Ye, While I, Mercury, Messenger of the Gods tell of their glory. In the beginning was Chaos, and out of Chaos came a world of light and beauty, and this world with the heavens above and the regions below are all subservient to the king of the gods, the supreme ruler of the universe. All submit to the will and tremble at the not of Jupiter who, from his thrown on Mount Olympus, summons the gods and goddesses to do homage at the feet of Juno, his queen, whose beauty holds him entralled. Behold the approach of Juno, queen of heaven, the goddess of the atmosphere, with her hand maiden Iris, Velma of the house of Newton, goddess of the Rainbow.

To the court comes Ceres, Mary Belle of the house of Batte, goddess of Agriculture. In her footsteps blossom flowers and vegetables, the bounty which she offers to the peerless Juno.

Alvin, of the house of Mondrik, as Vulcan, god of fire and the forge, raises his hammer and from his forge fly magis sparks to do honor to the queen.

Minerva, Grace of the house of Beacham, goddess of wisdom whose symbols are the owl and the cock, approaches to lay her gifts of science and art before the throne.

Pluto, James of the house of McLean, ruler of the underworld and god of riches, comes with his imps of darkness at the call of Jupiter the Mighty.

Fair Vesta, Dora Emily of the house of Moore, whose lighted torch symbolizes the family hearth, and her virgins who have vowed to tend its flame come into the presence of Juno with praise.

Saturn, Fred of the house of Graves god of Time, brings the seasons of the year to Mount Olympus.

Diana, Dorothy of the house of Denson, goddess of the woods and all the creatures that dwell therein, goddess of the moon and the stars, comes with her train to honor the queen.

Neptune, Edward of the house of Manning, god of the waters, has left the cool caves of his ocean home and comes amid a flurry of waves and sea people to answer the summons of Jupiter, his king.

Mars, Milton of the house of Moorman, god of war and mighty in battle, offers the protection of his warriors to the matchless Juno.

Glenn of the house of Kahler, as Apollo, most glorious of all the gods heralded by his messengers the sunbeams and accompanied by the nine muses approaches in spendor.

Venus, Imogene of the house of Sapp, goddess of beauty, who sprang from the foam of the sea, comes with a bevy of maidens upon whom she lavished her gifts.

Into the scene comes the first woman, Pandora, Florence of the house of Atkinson, "the gift of all the gods." This lovely creature, irresistably attractive, brings a not of discord. Into her keeping has been given a box which she foolishly opens. In consternation she closes it again, but too late for she has loosed upon hopeless man lo, in the midst of her dispair is heard a cloud of plagues and troubles. But the voice of Hope Eternal, the most priceless gift of the gods, Hope which brings healing to the body, peace to the mind, and joy to the spirit, and which carries mortals to the mountain top of the gods and leaves them triumphant over all.

Choir Picnic

The four divisions of the Methodist choir, alto, soprano, bass and tenor, have just completed a very successful contest that continued more than a month with the tenors and sopranoes losing to the other divisions. This group furnished a most delightful picnic lunch and also had charge of a merry social hour. The picnic was a Wayside Inn. The number met at the church and drove out to the park about six o'clock for this delightful affair.

Recital

Pupils of Robert Smith will be presented in Recital on May 29th, and 31st at 8:15 p. m. The public is invited.

BOY SCOUT TROOP NO. 1 VERY ACTIVE

DR. EPPERSON DELIVERS LECTURE ON FIRST AID TO BOYS MONDAY NIGHT

Troop No. 1 of the Boy Scouts of which Jo e Matula is directing head is continuing to show increased progress in the work of scouting.

Regular meeting was held Monday with 100 per cent attendance. Twelve boys took various tests. Feature of the meeting was Dr. Epperson's lecture on First Aid.

A new patrol was organized which will be known as the Hound Patrol of which F. E. Jackson, Jr., is leader and under the supervision of Asst. Scout Master Bennie Archer. The Panther Patrol having Ben Atkinson Jr., as their leader and under the supervision of Frederick Graves. The Third Patrol has not been named as yet but will be under the supervision of Henry Dreyer and the last patrol is now under organization.

Next Wednesday the troop will go on a hike where three important tests will be undertaken.

There seems to be some hesitation on the part of some of the parents giving their boys permission to become scouts. There is no need of this as the boys receive great benefits from the organization.

If a boy is at all inclined to take interest in anything he will eventually become absorbed to such an extent in Boy Scouting, that in manhood he must be a better man. And this is just what Scouting is about. Our boys are tomorrow's men. Why isn't it worth the sacrifice? There are certain rules and regulations which must strictly be adhered to. The following is the principle the boys are continually being taught to live up to, which is the first thing he learns, The Scout Oath:

On my honor I will do my best to do my duty to God and to my country and to obey the Scout Law. And to help other people at all times. To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight.

Mrs. H. M. Hefley and daughter, Henriem will leave Monday for San Antonio to attend graduation exercises at Carrol School. They will visit her mother, Mrs. Hunt in the home of her sister, Mrs. H. Carroll.

Chautauqua 6 Days Beginning June 15; Opens On May 31st.

The Redpath-Horner Chautauqua opens its 1928 season at Independence, Kansas on May 31st and will open for a six day engagement in Cameron on June 15, ending on June 21.

Beginning on May 31st at Independence, Kansas, the Premier Circuit of America finds it way through a long season for its twenty-second year of service to the great Southwest.

This year will be a banner year. People are alert and eager. The lecturers are outstanding. Their messages are timely, informative and inspiring.

The musical attractions are the latest word in costuming, popular selections and the classics that will never die. "A Gypsy Caravan" will thrill as no other musical attraction has done. The music of Vagabond Land is always inspiring, but add to it beautiful costumes, beautiful scenery, and exquisite lighting effects—the result will leave a never fading memory.

The dramatic presentations are outstanding. "Tommy" the newest show from Broadway, ran for eight months in New York and four months in Chicago, and has been presented only once in the west and that at Kansas City. A cross-section of American home life is 'Tommy.' One of the greatest, cleanest, comedies that has ever gone over the Premier.

"The Shepherd of the Hills," that beloved story of the Osark Hills from the pen of Harold Bell Wright, a story read and loved in every land, brought to the Premier in dramatic form with all of the great characters stepping from the pages of the book which tells the story of tender love and happy sacrifice.

Down through Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, the Premier finds it way, then back again through Oklahoma and Kansas to Colorado and New Mexico, up through Colorado again to Nebraska, then through Nebraska and closing in Kansas the early part of September. The personnel of the Premier is recruited from all parts of the country. A happy, combined, loyal force pledges itself to a successful Premier for the 1928 season, its 22nd consecutive year.

W. E. Allison

Willie Eldred Lee Allison, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Allison, passed away at eight o'clock May 7, 1928 at the age of 25 years 6 months and 26 days at his home in Long Beach, California.

He was born and reared at Marlow where he spent his life until nearly five years ago, when he and his wife went to California. On December 3, 1922 he was married to Miss Ola Ritchie of Aspermont, Texas, Stonewall, County.

His death was caused by pneumonia. The remains of the body were brought back to Marlow and interment was in the Marlow cemetery, Saturday May 12, 1928 at three o'clock. Services were conducted by Rev. Wallace Jones pastor of the Christian church at Cameron. Green Bros., had charge of the body.

He leaves to mourn his loss, his wife, mother and father, two sisters and two brothers and are as follows: Mrs. Susan Posey of Port Lavaca, Eddie Allison of Marlow; Mrs. Ross Posey of Rockdale and Archie Allison of Wilmington, California. All were at the funeral except Mrs. Susan Posey and Archie Allison.

Pallbearers were his school mates, Robert Mayfield, Billie Bickett, Erskine McDermott, A. D. Quillin, Chester Hobson and Monta Coward.

Household Notes

A delicately 'crunchy dessert which is sure to delight the children is Peanut brittle delight. To make it, beat one cup of heavy cream and fold in one cup diced, sliced Hawaiian pineapple, one and one-half cups boiled rice, 3-4 cup crushed peanut brittle, eight chopped marshmallows and 1-2 cup pineapple syrup. Chill and serve piled in a sherbet glass.

Fruit tarts for summer seem particularly appropriate. Here is a filling recipe which is new and destined to be popular. Cook one cup ground pressed figs in two cups water until soft and thick like jam. Add 1 1-2 cups crushed pineapple (pulp and syrup), sixtablespoons of sugar and one tablespoon flour mixed together. Pour in two slightly beaten egg yolks. Cook until thick, stirring constantly. Cool. Put into previosuly baked tart shells and garnish the tops with whipped cream. This receipe makes 24 small tarts.

Toasted musnrooms may be made of marshmallows just as well as real mushrooms, says this recipe. Slice bread and cut out eight rounds the size of a slice of pineapple. Saute the bread and eight slices of pineapple in butter until a golden brown, then place a circle of pineapple on each slice of bread. Mix one package of cream cheese, six tablespoons peanut butter, a few grains of salt and enough pineapple syrup to moisten. Spread thickly on the pineapple slices and top each one with a marshmallow. Place under the broiler until marshmallows are slightly browned but not melted. This will reserve the mushroom effect.

The following news item was clipped from Sunday's Houston Chronicle: Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ralston and J. C. Martin of Cameron are to be guests Monday and Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Andrews. Mr. Martin came down to see the exhibit of photographs at the Museum of Fine Arts in which he has entered some of his work in the amateur class.

When you want to communicate with someone in a distant town, you can still use the natural method,—call them by long distance and talk to them. Nothing is as expressive as the voice in communicating thought.

Even to distant points rates are low. You can talk for three minutes as far as 500 miles for only $2.40.

Someone Said--

If a man builds a better mouse trap than his neighbor, the world will make a beaten path to his door.

It sounds all right and may have been true when it was said, but it won't work these days.

This is an age of advertising. If the mouse trap builder would sell his mouse traps, he must advertise them. He must tell the world they are good mouse traps or the world will go by his door and buy mouse traps of the fellow who does advertise his mouse traps.

Whether it is mouse traps, merchandise, groceries or service, it must be advertised, if one would sell it.

Milam Organized For Vital Statistics In Reporting to State

This county has now been organized in accordance with the new Vital Statistics Law, by the appointment of registrars for each justice precinct and each incorporated town or city. In some cases two or more precincts have been combined into one district, where it seemed best to do so.

Evry birth is required by law to be reported to the local registrar of the district in which it occurs, by the attending physician or midwife, or if there was neither, then by the father or mother, within five days after the birth.

The law prohibits the burial or removal of a dead body before a death certificate properly and completely filled out, has been filed with the local registrar, and a burial or removal permit has been secured.

The immense legal value of these records makes it important that the citizens of Texas be given this protection by having a complete, legal record properly filled in accordance with this law.

In the first three months of 1928, there were reported from Milam county, 136 births and 73 deaths. This indicates only about 58 per cent of the total number which probably occurred. Let's get 10 per cent from now on.

Below is a list of local registrars of your county and it is urged that you make every effort to comply with the law and to aid in securing complete registration in your county. For further information, address State Department of Health, Bureau of Vital Statistics, Austin, Texas.

Bethlehem School Closes

The Bethlehem school with Marion Blansett, principal, held its commencement exercises Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the Mt. Zion church house before a large audience gathered on the lawn. J. Frank Cook of Buckholts, delivered the address of the evening and conferred the diplomas on the graduates. A three act play put on by local talent was well presented and much appreciated by those in attendance. Musical numbers and readings added in making the program a splendid success.

Political Calendar

The rather devious political machinery in which Texas voters this year make their selections of precenct, county, district, and state officers and presidential electors will start functioning on May 7. On that date precinct conventions for the national campaign will be held. Other dates on the political calendar are:

May 22—State convention to select delegates to national convention.

June 11—State executive committee

June 18—County executive committees meet to prepare primary ballots, meeting to select place for state convention.

July 28—First State primary.

August 29—Returns made to county chairman.

August 4—County executive committee canvasses results.

August 25—Run off primary. Precinct conventions.

August 29—Returns made to county chairman.

September 1—County executive committee canvass results. County conventions.

November 6—General election.

December 16—Result canvassed by state board.

None of these dates will mean much to the voter who failed to pay his poll tax on time.

Milano School Closes

Commencement exercises were observed at Milano Thursday night at eight o'clock at the school building in the presence of a large number of patrons and visitors. Judge W. G. Gillis, Cameron, addressed the four members of the graduating class and their friends on the subject, "The Seven Laws of Achievement." H. R. Edwards, superintendent of schools, presented the diplomas to the graduates of the seventh grade with certificates of promotion. The program rendered proved highly interesting.

Methodist Church

The rain bluffed some folks last week and our Sunday school attendance was down a little. My, what a good chance to show our Heavenly Father how much we appreciated the rain. Don't let it happen that way again. Come this Sunday at 9:45.

The pastor will preach at the eleven o'clock hour, and the Baccalaurate services will be held here at eight o'clock.

The Leagues will meet at seven in joint session again. We want all of our young people to come.

Hoyte School Closes

The Hoyte school closing on Friday night, May 18, was well attended. Mrs. Kathryn K. Robbins, county superintendent of public instruction, addressed the class and presented the certificates of promotion to the four girl graduates. Attending this commencement program were Judge W. G. Gillis; L. L. Blaylock, sheriff; Misses Leila Woolley and Lilian Atkinson, county tax assessor and cerk, respectively, Cameron.

Constable Fleming Captures Big Still

Constable John Fleming of Beat 4, assisted by deputies from the sheriff's office, captured a big whiskey still and arrested John Hamby at his place in the Gee Mountain community last Thursday, filing charges against him for manufacture and possession of liquor.

According to Fleming the officers proceeded upon authority of a search warrant, and located the whiskey still in a gully near a spring branch. The still was of 30-gallon capacity, and in addition two barrels of mash were destroyed, the copper coil and about a gallon of corn whiskey taken into custody.

Hamby was taken to Cameron and placed in jail, but made bond next day to await action of the grand jury.—Rockdale Reporter.

Finishing School Then What

Trade Your High School Desk for a Salaried Desk in Business

Business wants you and will pay you well; but first you must secure a specialized business training in some good commercial school. To earn money to buy the things you need and would like to have is the desire of every worthy young man and woman. But to do this you must be trained to do well something that the business world wants done. This training must be secured in a school located in a large business center where thousands of young people are employed each year to fill the places of those that are promoted and that go into business for themselves. Do not make the mistake of attending a business college in a mall town or city where there is practically no employment. for a school thus located can not assist you in securing positions like a big school in the heart of a large city where the managers of large business concerns are personally acquainted with the school and its management.

Byrne students hold the highest salaried positions as secretaries and accountant in the city of Dallas. They are always in demand. Many of them are employers themselves and naturally prefer students that are trained in the Famous Byrne Systems which they know to be thorough and modern. With seven of our own specially prepared copyrighted text books, we are able to turn out a better bookkeeper and stenographer than is possible with other systems; and we do this at a saving of at least three months' time to the student, which means that our students will be on the payroll drawing a nice salary 3 months before they could have graduated had they attended a school teaching other systems.

Fill in and mail for large free catalogue. You will be agreeably surprised at what we have to offer and what we can do for you in a short time and a small outlay of cash in advance.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CAMERON HERALD
TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Capt. John B. Wolf and County Treasurer Nabours left early last Thursday morning to attend the confederate reunion in New Orleans. Captain Wolf belonged to the 14th Arkansas Infantry and Mr. Nabours to the 5th Texas Infantry. They carried on their hats printed ribbons to show their command. It has been a long time since the war and comrades hardly recognize each other now.

Senator Travis Henderson had an item in the appropriation bill refunding to him $250 expenses incured as a member of the commission to visit Chickamauga and mark the positions of Texas troops on the battlefield. The resolution passed by the 23rd legislature provided that the commissioners should serve without compensation. The Governor vetoed the item and cited Art. 3, section 53 of the State constitution.

Mrs. G. M. Ryan came over from Rockdale last Sunday and accompanied her kinsmen, Capt. Wolf to New Orleans.

Hon. H. E. Ellis of Groesbeck was in Cameron on business last Tuesday.

The price of cotton went up among the pictures in New York last week. Should the boll wevil remain, there will be no more 5 cent cotton.

Judge Virge Woolley of Gause spent Friday of last week in Cameron on business.

John Watson was in Franklin last Monday on legal business.

Last Monday evening there was a very pleasant social entertainment at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Triggs in this city, the occasion being complimentary to their guest, Miss Annie Aynesworth, a popular young lady of Rosebud.

Cameron people were much gratified last Saturday when information was received by telephone that the Cameron Fire Department had won first prize in the reel tournament at Corsicana, the prize being $150 in cash. Later in the day Mayor Ralston returned and was much elated over the result. "The Cameron company is among the best in the state," he remarked. "These races are subject to minor mishaps, and the one in luck wins." It is certainly a high honor to our boys to be victorious in a state contest. They are young men of our city who have reached their present high standard of proficiency without compensation. In the large cities the firemen are paid, but in a town like Cameron their services are given free. They have businesses of their own to engage their time and in view of these facts, the credit due them is doubled. The boys left Thursday and owing to missing connection, they did not reach home until Saturday night.

We take this method to thank each and everyone for the kindness shown in our hour of grief. Also we thank every one that was so kind and loving as to meet us at the station when the corpse arrived. Al Smith's Jackson Day Letter Carries Much Sound Advice

The letter written by Governor Al Smith, of New oYrk, to Clem Shaver, chairman national demacrotic committee, responding to the invitation to attend the Jackson Day banquet, contains so much sound advice and shows so thoroughly the qualities of statesmanship, as contrasted with intolerant and fanatical opposition to his candidacy, that the Herald feels warranted in printing it again. There is advice in it for those who place patriotism above personal feeling, who are inspired with the true spirit of democracy more than with selfish desire to dictate and there is in it abundant material for serious consideration by those who believe in religious liberty and the welfare of the masses The letter follows:

Hon. Clem Shaver, Chairman Democratic National Committee.

My Dear Chairman:

It is a matter of deep regret that the pressure of official business makes it impossible for me to leave the state. I should like to join with my fellow democrats throughout the country in celebrating the birthday of Andrew Jackson. I take it that when a group of democratic leaders from various ports of the country come together something must naturally be said of interest to the country and to the party.

The democratic party deserves success in the nation, but, in my opinion, cannot attain it by relying wholly upon the mistakes of its political adversaries. It should inspire confidence by a constructive, forward-looking platform which promises of material betterment for the nation. There should be no Western, no Eastern, no Northern, no Southern democracy. Jeffersonian democracy is built upon proposals sufficiently broad and liberal to enlist all men who beieve in the principes of representative government. We must think nationally, and not locally.

If I may be pardoned for a definite suggestion at this time. I venture to say that the declaration of party principles might well be tentatively drafted at the earliest possible moment. I believe we have erred in the past by waiting for a national convention to undertake the entire task of preparing a platform. In the heat and rush of a convention the platform when finally written is, to my way of thinking, not efficiently understandable to the masses of the people.

There is too great a tendency to speak of the evils that beset us and to fail to suggest any specific remedy. Party platforms of recent years have been too general in their terms, and important questions have been neglected by platform builders in the spirit of compromise with great principles. We cannot carry water on both shoulders. The democratic party must talk out to the American people in no uncertain terms.

The national committee could render a great service to the party, and to the country as well, by the formulation far in advance of the national convention of a definite party policy on lines from which there can come during the course of the convention's deliberations a platform upon which our candidates may present their cause to the country.

It is my deep conviction that our platform should be built by applying the fundamental principles of Jeffersonian democracy unflichingly to each specific problem of the day.

The greatest degree of self-government by the states, the minimum of interference by the federal government or any state with the local habits and concerns of any other state, legislation for the interest of all and not for any class or group non-interference with the internal affairs of other nations, tolerance of conflicting opinion—these are our articles of political faith.

When we follow these, we succeed. We should follow them now.

We should study and treat in the light of these principles our foreign relations, prohibition, agriculture, reform of the governmental machinery, economic policy, conservation and development of our public natural resources and in fact, any other question which arises. We will solve these specific problems rightly only if we fearlessly meet them in full reliance upon these traditions of our party. I for one am for thus meeting them without equivocation.

The success of the democratic party in the State of New York lies in the fact that it has had a clear-cut, definite platform, and from Long Island to Lake Erie the democratic party stood as one man until the people of the state achieved the full benefit of the promises made at each of our democratic state conventions.

Indevisive declarations of political faith get the party nowhere. We have had sufficient experience along that line in the past, and as a lesson from that experience I offer these sugestions herein contained to the leaders and to the rank and file of the party as in the interest of the country and of the party of Jefferson and Jackson.

"Freedom of Individual Effort, Our Greatest Need"

Says Merle Thorpe

"We are too ready to allow government bureaus and commissions to restrict and hamper individual initiative. Yet it is important to our industrial and, indeed, our spiritual life, that full freedom be allowed for individual effort in every line of business. For therein lies the opportunity for the development of that interesting and necessary side of our nature—the romantic and adventurous."

—Merle Thorpe
Editor of Nation's Business

When you flip the switch that gives you light, or cooks your food, or runs your radio, you draw upon an instantaneous supply of electric energy. The immense power plants, sub-stations and transmission lines through which this energy comes to you often make the electric light and power business seem like little more than a vast machine.

Yet the planning that keeps electric service ready to meet the growing volume of industrial and domestic needs, the engineering genius which daily increases its usefulness and lowers its cost, and the great funds of capital required to turn plans and engineering genius into service-producing equipment—all these depend upon the service of individual men.

Men built these systems and men must run them. And since time began, men have only done their best where individual initiative has had free play.

That America today enjoys an electric service which in efficiency and extent cannot be equalled in the world, is due to the individual efforts of men working under the American principles of free business enterprise.

Electricity Has Been Big Factor

frigerate our food with electricity. And if science perfects its present experiments soon we may be able to watch the movies on our own walls by plugging a radio into the wall socket."

Records show that the first electric plant was established in the building of the Texas Gin and Compress company in 1898. This was an old style direct current plant and served about fifty customers. This plant operated for two years when the Cameron Water, Power and Light Company purchased the plant. Mr. Lawrence was elected secretary of this organization. He is still in possession of the original subscription list, which now priceless document is filled with names of the pioneer leaders of Cameron. Such names as John M. Hefley, T. S. Henderson, H. F. Smith, C. H. Yoe, M. M. Kemp, Crawford & Crawford, J. C. Reese, E. Sanders and James B. Moore are inscribed on the list.

The electric plant of the Cameron Water, Power and Light Company was situated on the river where it was operated in conjunction with the water works, but a heavy overflow made it necessary for the generating station to be moved, and it was taken to the site where now stands the ice and cold storage plant. Three years after this the system was changed over from a direct current to alternating current, which is almost universally used today. In 1914 the plant discarded the steam boilers and installed Diesel engines for operating the generators.

All during this time Cameron was growing and there came a time when it was decided that in order to give the town the full benefit of the developments of electric science and the organization headed by Mr. Lawrence decided to sell the electric plant to the Texas Power and Light Company which had strung its powerful highlines throughout almost all of Texas.

"I think this was one of the most progressive steps we have ever made in Cameron," Mr. Lawrence said. "It has been proved that small electric plants cannot hope to compete with the service of a big company such as the Texas Power and Light Company. This vast organization has unlimited capital for extension and maintenance work and has in its employ the highest type of technical and mechanical experts. And today we know that no matter how fast we grow or what our electric service needs shall be that the T. P. & L. is ready to grow with us and serve us."

The Texas Power and Light Company came to Cameron in 1925 when it extended its highline system into the town.
